Clinical Nutrition ESPEN, Clinical Nutrition and Clinical Nutrition Experimental (published by Elsevier) are the official journals of ESPEN. Each year, six issues of each cover the scope of Clinical Nutrition and Metabolism.

You won't need to enter a specific Elsevier login/password in order to access the full-text version. However, you can decide to create such a login/password in order to use the personalization features (e.g. receive the table of contents of these and other Elsevier journals, save your searches,...).

STEP 4: Be sure that your browser is set to allow pop-ups (at least temporarily). You will then be redirected to the relevant journal's site, where you will be able to browse the journal's contents and search for specific topics, articles, or issues
